

its insufferable presence—which, like the dark spirit of the Manichaeans, turns all his joy into gall, the reflection that he imposed himself for what he was not, on the confidence of a credulous people, and thereby swindled them out of their suffrages.

From the Northern and Middle States Mr. Polk is continually beset with petitions to be true to his Kane letter, and to sustain the honest industry on which millions depend for their support. From the South comes a voice commanding him to be true to the doctrines that he espoused in Tennessee. To both he cannot be true. He must be traitor to one or to the other. He must offend one of the factions that rallied to his support with all their might, and, in

AN INDIAN KING.

By recent advices from the Sandwich Islands, we have a King's speech which is as well worth preserving as those from the European side of the water. The Legislative Councils of the Sandwich Islands, consisting of a House of Nobles and a House of Representatives, convened for the first time on the 20th of May. The King was dressed in a new military suit, and the Queen in a figured straw colored silk dress, bonnet of the same color, with white ostrich feathers. The fort announced his Majesty's entrance into the Legislative Hall by a national salute—twenty-one guns. The foreign vessels of war responded with the same number of guns. When their Majesties had ascended the throne, the Rev. Mr. Richards, American missionary, addressed the Throne of Grace, after which the King ordered his assembly to be seated, and then read his speech, from which we make a few extracts:

Nobles and Representatives of the People: We have called you together to deliberate on matters connected with the good of our kingdom. In the exercise of our prerogatives we have appointed Gerrit P. Judd, Esq., to be our Minister for the Interior Affairs of our kingdom; Robert C. Wyle, Esq., to be our Minister for Foreign Relations; and John Ricard, Esq., to be our law adviser in all matters relating to the administration of justice. We have ordered our ministers to lay before you the reports of their several departments.

The independence of our kingdom has been most explicitly recognised by the U. States, Great Britain, France and Belgium. From each of these powers we have received the most friendly assurances.

It is our wish to cultivate the relations of peace and friendship with all nations, and to treat the subjects of all with equal justice.

It is our desire that you take measures to ascertain whether the number of our people be diminishing or increasing, and that you devise means for augmenting the comforts and the happiness of the people of our Island.

The Almighty Ruler of nations has dealt kindly with us in our troubles; in restoring our kingdom, together with special guarantees for its existence as an independent nation. May He also aid you in your deliberations, and may He grant his special protection to us, to you and our people.

After the conclusion of the speech, Mr. Young, one of the nobles, offered resolutions of thanks to the governments of Great Britain, France, Belgium, and the United States, for recognizing the independence of the Islands, which passed unanimously.

Some other items of news are contained in the advices, which may interest our readers. The American Mission has expended on the High School at Lahaina, from its commencement in 1831, to the present year, $68,000; whole number of pupils 214, of which 118 have become teachers, 44 have been employed by government, and 21 have died.

There are two packets now running between Oregon City and Honolulu. The voyage between the two places averages twenty-five to thirty days. The 'Polynesian' newspaper advertises salted provisions, barley, oats, peas, beans, butter, &c., from Oregon. The shingle trade is very brisk, an evidence that the Yankees are at work on the banks of the Columbia.

The American brig Elizabeth, Captain King, of Salem, laden with arms and ammunition for the Fijee Islands, sailed from Tahiti in April, having been closely watched and guarded by the French while at the latter port.

The death of Capt. Forbes, of the schooner Will Watch, and two of his seamen, while attempting to land at Tahiti last spring, is reported by our Consul at Lahaina. The schooner had been seized by the French for selling arms to the natives.

Queen Pomare still remained at Raiatea, blockaded by French forces, and one of her chiefs who aided in the assassination of some Frenchmen, had been shot by the French authorities.

BROADWAY.—The editor of the New York Tribune philosophizes about a pleasant day in Broadway, to a tune and tenor which may apply to other places, and will, in its generalities and application answer for all latitudes. He says: "You might deem that one of the gorgeous prairies of the West, in full flower-season, were draining its many-hued tide through Broadway. It is a point of curious speculation to note the soldier-like discipline with which the going and coming through continually meet and pass each other, with the precision of two bodies of newly-drilled troops. 'Keep to the right' is the grand secret—the 'open sesame'—that places Broadway within the enjoyment of 'the meaneast capacity.' The senseless notion that a lady must at all events 'take the wall' in meeting, is here effectually exploded. Occasionally a stray individual, unaccustomed to the Broadway epidemic, attempts—perhaps with a lady on each arm—to make headway against both currents, and obstinately runs against everybody going either up or down; too blind to see what is the matter, or too foolish to fall in with the current and go along smoothly and quietly. The fate of such a being is a cruel one. The mishaps, elbowings, squeezings and rebuffs of Broadway, are but a type of his whole world-journey. Always taking the left when his fellows take the right—quarreling about nothing with everybody, while the great tide of humanity rushes by unheeding, leaving him high and dry to growl and grumble, and rub his bruised shins at leisure—he is an object scarcely worthy of being despised, and yet whom no one has time to pity."

A WORTHY PATRIARCH.—The London Athenaeum thus announces the decease of a worthy Hebrew: From Prague, we hear of the death, at the age of 77, of the Hebrew merchant, Maurice Sedekauer—a man whose title to a record in pages like ours, consist, not in the princely fortune which was the work of his own honorable toil, but in the noble use which he made of it. Fifty years ago, M. Sedekauer came penniless to Prague; and he has left behind him seven millions of florins—£700,000. In his lifetime he devoted the larger part of his immense revenues to the encouragement of science, art and national industry—and to the relief of the indigent, without distinction of religion or race, and by his will, he has bequeathed three millions of florins—£300,000, among the benevolent institutions of all the principal cities of Bohemia. He was followed to the cemetery of his nation by men of all ranks and beliefs—the poor, of course—the civil and military authorities of the capital—all its distinguished men, and it is very pleasant to add, many clergymen of the various Christian sects. Everywhere, the spirit is passing into dishonor, which would have once "spit upon the Jewish gaberdine," or trampled on the grave of a man like this.

CONSUMPTION.—From the fourth annual report of the Hospital for Consumption and Diseases of the Chest, the following statistical facts may be gathered: Of the 60,000 deaths which annually occur in England and Wales from slow and lingering disease, upwards of 35,000 are due to pulmonary consumption; and as the duration of the disease, taking one with another, is about two years, it follows that more than 70,000 persons are constantly suffering from consumption. It may be as well to add that many, very many, of these poor sufferers are the acknowledged victims of unventilated workshops, ill constructed dwellings, long hours of work, and the want of open places for exercise and recreation. The new hospital for consumption, &c., now in the course of erection at Bromton, by those extensive builders, the Messrs. Bird of Hammersmith, will be opened for the reception of patients early in the forthcoming spring.—London paper.

Nov. 16.

SOUTHERN LITERARY MESSENGER.—Is a monthly periodical devoted to every department of Literature and the Fine Arts. It has been established more than eleven years, during which it has stood at the head of American periodicals. It is published in the neatest style, and contains a great variety of interesting and instructive readings—differing widely from a majority of our publications, in the solidity and usefulness of its contents.

Novels, Tales, Poems, Travels, Essays, Critiques, Reviews, Historical and Biographical Sketches, papers on the Army, Navy, General Politics, and other National Interests, adorn its pages.

To the South and West it confidently appeals for support. Whilst it is distinctly the friend and advocate of the South and West, it is not sectional, having always circulated quite widely in the North and East, and having imparted a higher National character to the literature of the United States. Its motto is—

"In the Union and for the Union!—In the South and for the South!"

But the South and West should especially cherish it, as it is the only Literary Journal, of long and high standing, within all their borders, and has vindicated and promoted their rights and interests. During another year, it will seek to extend its usefulness and fame, and solicit the increased patronage of the public; and also invoke the aid of its present patrons in extending its circulation.

Its Contributors are numerous—embracing professional and amateur writers of the first distinction. To the present efficient corps, new writers will be added, and neither trouble or expense will be spared to make the work eminently worthy of patronage.

The Twelfth Volume of the Messenger, number CXXXIV, will commence on the 1st of January, 1846. Each number contains 64 super-royal octavo pages. It makes, during the year, a large and splendid volume.

Reduction of Postage.—In order to reduce the postage as much as possible, the Messenger will be published on lighter paper, but of the best quality. Subscribers are invited to send their orders on the following.

LIBERAL TERMS: Single copy, $3 per annum. Club of Two, $9, or $4.50 per copy; Five, $20, or $4 per copy; Ten, $32, or $3.50 per copy.

The Messenger for nothing.—Whoever will procure us 4 new subscribers, and send $20, shall receive the Messenger gratis, or $1 in money and in the same proportion for a larger number.

500 Pages for Fifty Cents!!!

PROSPECTUS OF THE CONGRESSIONAL JOURNAL.

THE EDITORS of the UNITED STATES JOURNAL propose to commence, with the next session of Congress, a weekly publication under the above title, to continue through the whole session, at the unprecedented low price of FIFTY CENTS! to each subscriber for a volume of five hundred pages! It will contain a faithful and impartial record of both Houses of Congress, the gist of all the important speeches which may be delivered, etc. The most competent reporters will be employed and nothing shall prevent it being made worthy of the patronage of the public generally. The Journal will endeavor in its records, to do justice to both parties, so that both parties will feel allowed to patronize the publication. It being the long session, as it is called, the volume will contain at least 500 pages; each number will contain sixteen pages of solid matter, which will enable the publishers to give all the proceedings worthy of being preserved in book form, for binding and future reference. The exceedingly low terms will place it within the reach of all; the publishers hope that their friends will use their exertions in obtaining subscribers. Those who forward Five Dollars shall receive Eleven copies; Ten dollars, twenty-three copies; Twenty dollars, Fifty copies, reducing the price to forty cents, for a volume of 500 pages. A title page and complete index will be added at the end of the volume, to make it the more convenient for future reference.
